
Fast and Furious Abs Workout

Lupit Inc - Insanity Fast and Furious Abs from Beachbody.mp4 Any suggestions on how I can get those abs? Just do cardio, and nothing else? I'm not into excess cardio! It's just for cardio. A: You can do INSANITY for cardio, but you'll need other cardio as well. I agree with Shaun T's abs workout: drink lots of water do cardio (usually medium pace), but also do as many high-intensity intervals (HIIT) as possible do your abs workout AFTER cardio (I usually do abs on the hour or hour and 15 minute mark of a run) A typical "HIIT" workout for an hour: Treadmills/Cross-Trainer: This is my favorite because it allows for flexibility with the work/rest ratio. You can spend more time on the treadmill/cross-trainer doing interval, high-intensity intervals and lower intensity on the way back, or you can do a long steady-state interval on the treadmill/cross-trainer and do HIIT on the return. Aerobic machines: This can be any machine that allows for full-body work (usually has a lot of cable attachments) where you can do varying amounts of low, medium, and high intensity intervals. Swimming: This is probably the best option for a cardio workout for an hour that doesn't involve setting up a machine in your house. Take care of your body. A: You want low-intensity cardio that also requires some resistance - pretty much all that matters for abs. That's basically burpees for 1 minute, do 10-12 of them, repeat. Also your arms/forearms are pretty important for the right ab exercises to get those crunches.
